

Using Early Intervention Strategies To Reduce OSHA “Recordables” Is Topic of May 15 Roundtable

WETHERSFIELD, May 2, 2018 – Using early intervention strategies to reduce OSHA “recordables” – including work-related injuries – and promoting tactics to maximize productivity, will be discussed at the May 15 Breakfast Roundtable Discussion Group meeting sponsored by the Connecticut Department of Labor’s Division of Occupational Safety and Health (CONN-OSHA).

For this month’s discussion group, the 8:15 to 9:45 a.m. meeting will move offsite from its usual spot at the Labor Department’s Wethersfield office to Select Physical Therapy, located at 510 Cottage Grove Rd. in Bloomfield.

David A. Hoyle, National Director of Work Strategies Programs at Select Medical Corporation headquartered in Mechanicsburg, PA, will lead a presentation and discussion that includes wellness, ergonomics and bio-psychosocial factors as they relate to work-related musculoskeletal disorders. He will talk about factors that lead to chronic illness and injuries, and worker’s compensation costs related to work-related injuries.

“As a consultant to employers and worker’s compensation carriers who focuses on reducing spending and maximizing productivity, David’s more than 30 years of experience as a physical therapist, exercise scientist and training in wellness give him a unique view in promoting a safe workplace and keeping employees healthier,” notes CONN-OSHA Occupational Safety Training Specialist and project coordinator John Able.

Admission to the breakfast is free, but pre-registration is required. Please contact Able at john.able@ct.gov to register, or for additional information.
