1099G Forms for 2018 Tax Year Now Available Using Labor Department's Online Service

WETHERSFIELD, January 11, 2019 – Statement of Unemployment Compensation Payments forms are now available online for tax year 2018. Known as the 1099G, the tax information is required for claimants who have received unemployment benefits and must report them as income on their annual tax filing, according to the Connecticut Department of Labor. Statements can be downloaded by visiting www.FileCTUI.com and clicking on the blue UC-1099G tax form button.

State Labor Commissioner Kurt Westby reminds customers that the annual tax statements, placed online several years ago, are no longer mailed out. "This paperless method allows us to provide statements more quickly, and also helps cut costs and increase efficiency," Westby said. "In addition to printing and mailing costs, the agency was experiencing a large number of returned 1099G statements due to claimant address changes. The online system now offers 24/7 access and five years of the tax records – currently from 2014 to 2018."

Those visiting www.FileCTUI.com and clicking on the UC-1099G button will also find links to Frequently Asked Questions, and a log-in page to access the tax statements(s). Claimants that used the agency's online system to file a weekly unemployment insurance claim, make an account inquiry, or request their method of benefit payment (direct deposit or debit card) must use that same User ID and password. New users or those that have forgotten their ID or password will need to click on the Create an Account/Forgot User ID or Password link.

While electronic versions of the 1099G tax forms can immediately be downloaded online, the Labor Department can mail a copy to claimants requesting one through the online 1099G Request service. Once processed, a paper copy will arrive in the mail within two weeks.

"Knowing that not every person has a home computer, we want to note that the 1099G online site is secure and individuals can safely obtain their tax statements by using a computer at their local American Job Center or public library to download the form," Westby added.
